Nova Scotia Teachers Union

E-mail your name, home address, and school or campus by January 3, 2007 to tbteacher@nstu.ca to be eligible for the draw.

This month's equity book giveaway is entitled Inclusive Education (A Casebook and Readings for Prospective and Practicing Teachers), edited by Suzanne E. Wade.

A review of the book states, "The readings and teaching cases in this volume are designed to prepare teachers for inclusive education. Part 1 provides an overview of issues related to inclusive education and describes approaches for creating inclusive classrooms and schools."

The Equity Committee would like to take this opportunity to remind NSTU members that there are two upcoming conferences of interest to teachers dealing with equity issues. The Canadian Teachers' Federation is hosting a social justice conference on May 4-6 in Ottawa and the Nova Scotia Educational Leadership Consortium is also hosting a social justice conference on May 9 to 11 in Halifax. For further information about these conferences consult the CTF and NSELC websites respectively at www.ctf-fce.ca or www.nselc.ednet.ns.ca or contact Gérard Cormier at gcormier@nstu.ca.

The Equity Committee will also host an equal-billed conference on April 13 to 14 entitled The Faces of Equity at the Delta Halifax Hotel. Local Presidents will be receiving registration information in the new year.
